GAME STATUS

"Boris IX" has filled. The cast will be: Kevin Wilson as Austria, Rudy Zedda as England, Dan Gorham as France, Marcel Carbonneau as Germany, Art Asfeld as Italy, Wayne Melnick as Russia, and Debbie Osborne as Turkey. Orders for Spring 1901 are due 6 May 95 but may be pushed back if a majority request since Dan is overseas (HINT: label your mail to Belize "AIR MAIL" or it will take the slow boat). Need phone numbers from Art, Debbie, and Dan.

Congratulations to Chuck Hanns for winning "Gilgamesh". "Inshullana", its replacement, is already up and running. Next HoTW game will be in 3-5 months when "Enkidu" ends.

"Revenge is Sweet" should finish in the next two issues. Players interested in its replacement, "Vengeance is Mine", should contact Mark Fruch by voice, e-mail or snail mail. He'll be OM'ing it; I'll just by providing the map and printing it up here. Might play too if Mark needs a 6th.

Congratulations to Dan Farrow who has won "1835-B". "1835-C" now has five registered players (R Fisher, Butitta, Hare, Zieske & Fruch) and needs one or two more. To register, send your votes on the three optional rules. If we don't get enough by next time, well, see next paragraph.

We have quorums (quora?) for 1829, MAGIC REALM, DOWN WITH THE KING, CIVILIZATION, and KINGMAKER, but, alas! we have no room. Should "1835-C" fail to fill, it will be replaced by one of these, probably in that priority order.

We've had considerable interest in new STELLAR CONQUEST games. The present "blind" games keep dragging on for a variety of reasons, so I'm interested in other systems, either gunboat or open. Any ideas or druthers as to which you want to play?

BORIS'S BULLETIN BOARD

Thought for the Month: "Let us not hear of Generals who conquer without bloodshed. If a bloody slaughter is a horrible sight, then that is a ground for paying more respect to War, but not for making the sword we wear blunter and blunter by degrees from feelings of humanity, until some one steps in with one that is sharp and lops the arm from our body." ---Carl von Clausewitz

Meant to mention two issues ago that I'm teaching Monday and Wednesday nights this semester, so those of you who are prone to call should take note and have a prepared speech ready for the answering machine on those nights. Final exam is 1 May.

I may be taking a two week course in Dayton, OH from 20-31 Mar. If so I plan on driving up there I might make it up to the Detroit area for the weekend of the 25th. Anderson, Osborne, and Young, beware! Because my travel day back is our usual deadline, y'all get an extra week to negotiate as an early Easter/Pasover present.

BOOS & KUDOS

This month's Madame Bolduc Press Excellence Award goes jointly to Rudy Zedda for his "ROM-VIE" article in "Boris VIII" and to the author of the "Position Wanted" classified in the same game.

There will be no Ms Nar Super-Sunday Bomb this month. She's given them up for Lent.

WALL STREET JOURNAL--As surely as it's Spring, rumors of Peace are wafting in the air. There is more optimism this year than last since both the Austrian and Russian Foreign Ministers have been hospitalized from the severe lung damage they suffered in their duel. England, perhaps, will be the reluctant one as she will soon be secure behind her Scandinavian and Gibraltar stalemate lines, and will be able to field a sizable expeditionary force to the Continent to exploit any opportunities arising from the Austro-Russian truce--a point not lost on the belligerents.

MURKWOOD: Marshal Shacklett's chances of survival are slipping away as quickly as his troops are retreating in the face of the Russian hordes. Better coordination with Italy could go a long way towards improving those chances. The rogue French army, evidently intent on one-upping Napoleon, is mucking up everyone's calculations. The question in the East is: "When will Russia and Turkey, ancient enemies that they are, come to blows?" Meanwhile, the West, deprived of a common victim, is floundering. Germany and Italy are casting ever more frequent glances backwards to the east, and England nervously contemplates the ghastly specter of a Russian F STP(nc).

EMBASSY BEAT

MOSCOW-ROME: All diplomatic relations with Italy are severed.

MOSCOW-CONSTANTINOPLE: Keep up the cooperation.

VIENNA--The Austrian Ministry announced that in a reciprocal agreement with the Russian government, Austrian Armies will be touring the Ukraine and Moscow in the same manner that Russian armies have visited Budapest and Vienna. Hopefully this will dispel any rumors caused by the Turkish faction that Austria and Russia are really at war. Perish the thought. After all, Rumania is unoccupied as a gesture of goodwill.

BORIS WORLD PRESS REVIEW

Pravda (The Truth)--It is only a matter of time before Austria follows France into oblivion. Many regrets.

Boldhome Bugle--Arad Gibil, President of the People's Revolutionary Bank, has been acquitted of charges of insider trading. His accuser, Solomon Grundy, has been ordered transported to Slave Wall and (what else?) sold into slavery to cover Mr Gibil's legal expenses. Mr Gibil will be eligible to resume trading in the Fall.

CLIFFHOME--it appears that Italy, not liking what it saw in the Austrian rapid ingestion of Russia, has decided to preemptively strike into the vacant Austrian interior, thus handing Wormtongue a casus belli just when he needed new worlds to conquer. Watch how fast the troops return home! Russia, Turkey, and perhaps France will survive the year, but Wormtongue should net one or two centers despite the Italian incursion. The Anglo-German alliance must soon decide to aid or devour Italy and the Russian remnant. A difference of opinion is to be expected as Germany is on the front line and England is invested behind her seawall and should be able to bottle up Gibraltar at will.

BERLIN to ITALY: I hope you learn who your real friends are before Austria wins this game.

BERLIN to MOSCOW, PARIS and CONSTANTINOPLE: I'll be joining you soon as spectators.

PARIS: I would like to thank both my allies for promising me, independently, they would not move against me and then both trying to take the same place. How many faces can a person have?

FRA-ENG: Grab while you can after me, you're next on the "hit" parade.

FRA-GER: We're in the same sinking ship and you are making it worse for both of us. You have too many problems with "Grima" and soon to be messing with me.

FRA-ITA: You have already lost because you have no idea of the awesome treachery of the superhuman Wormtongue.

ROME to VIENNA: Dear Wormtongue, Top 5 Ways to keep an Ally:

1. Confer with your ally before stabbing a mutual ally.
2. Confide in your wife as to avoid "Italy? Are you still in the game? All the pieces on Jim's board that are in Italy, France and Spain are red, not green."
3. See #5.
4. Don't refer to your ally as "that gullible Rudy" just in case your daughter ever answers the phone.
5. Never, I repeat, Never use the old "Don't move into Marseilles" trick!!

GREEN: I enjoyed the game very much and I think your GMing was excellent. I liked your notation system, which is a big help for you. I believe the game is better if one doesn't know what country they are going to get in subsequent turns...but it must speed up the play considerably with preset determinations. I liked the dice roll results and tie shows to give it a little bit of excitement when reading the results and having the chance to know where your fortunes were either made or dashed (on the Steppes of Georgia)...Thanks again for allowing me the chance to play and congratulations to Chuck Hanna on his great victory and pre-planning double turn sweep for huge victory points on turns V and VI.

PURPLE: A real good game I wish my luck in battles was as great as the plan that depended on that luck. Delete the tie rolls it's the end results I'd like to see and the empire not known as in Enkidu is better.

ORANGE: I do not like not being able to adapt the empire draw per turn to try to hinder the leaders. This takes away one of the game systems balance mechanisms.

The final format for the per turn instructions is quite good. A little slow to setup up because of the abbreviations, but this will improve as they are learned. Sorry I don't have a solution for the empire draw phase that would not slow down the play by mail.

One last comment, the game seemed a little removed. There was no player interaction required, I am not sure if this is good or bad. One of the reasons I enjoy this game face to face is because of the player interaction and diplomacy/propaganda.

My congratulations to the winner for a well played game.

GM: I think the system worked pretty well, although the inability to "screw the leader" via card passing was a definite flaw. You'll note that "Enkidu" and now "Inshulliana" have abandoned the foreordained concept, but we've got a lot of folks on e-mail to speed things some. On the other hand, you might have noticed that everybody had 60 SP, so total strength wasn't a critical factor. The "Mongol/Ming flipflop thing" was indeed the decisive factor; but would it have been if the rolls were as bad as the Mongols in "Enkidu"?

All in all, well played gentlemen!

Turn 1

THE CAST

ATREIDES (Weiss): 1C, 10S, 10T @ Arrakeen
 BENE GESSERIT (Deb Osborne): 1C, 5S, 1T @ Carthag
 EMPEROR (Tauck): 1C, 10S
 FREMEN (Morrison): 1C, 3S, 3T & 1* @ Sietch Tabr, 4T @ False Wall East, 2T @ False Wall South.
 GUILD (Anderson): 1C, 5S, 5T @ Tuck's Sietch
 HARKONNEN (Bryden): 2C, 10S, 10T @ Carthag

TURN 1:

1. The Storm begins in Sector 18. It will move next to ____.
2. Spice blows occur at Funeral Plain(6) and Habbanya's Erg(8). The top Spice card is ____.
3. Bidding: There are six cards available. They are (in alphabetical order) _____ & _____.

Due next time are orders for the Turn 1 Bidding Round through the Turn 2 Spice Blow Round. We will halt things if combat occurs. You will have noted that Ron Fisher gentlemanly resigned his BG position so that Debbie Osborne could play. The first question up for vote last time, "Should alliances be allowed?" received 3 "yes", 2 no, and 1 NVR (no vote received) and so passes. The second question, "If alliances are allowed, may they win?" received 1 "yes", 4 "no", and 1 NVR and so fails.

John Bryden would like to propose that alliances do not automatically share each other's powers. Your vote on this is due next month too. But why ally if this passes?

Please note that I intend to consider Revival, Shipment, and Movement as three separate phases, meaning you can make your shipment orders conditional on something that happened in the Revival Phase (e.g., Harkonnen reviving F Rautha), or your movement orders conditional on what happened in the Shipment Phase (e.g., Guild went first, or Emperor shipped into Sietch Tabr). The Guild will go first, last, or simultaneously in all three of these phases, not first in one, last in another.

military history (especially the Alamo, Little Big Horn, Balaklava, Roark's Drift, etc.). Prefer warm climate and non-Germanic-speaking country, but any offer will be accepted. Wire: R. Fisher, Siberia...soon...please.

BERLIN to ROME: Rules to live by as an employee of Austria:

1. The Boss is always right.
2. Remember Rule Number 1.
3. Young can never win an argument with a woman, they don't argue (fight) fairly or logically.
4. A married man can win an argument with his wife only if he wants a cold shoulder, the silent treatment and to become a sofa sleeper.
5. Remember Murphy's Law: What plans or deals you make can fall apart and go against you.
6. Remember the paranoid's First Law: Do unto others before they do it to you.

MADDMS SLOWS FLIPPMS!

FRANK: Quintus has 23 END left; all chariots have one dolphin. Hmmm, just noticed that my board has 34 squares in the straightaways while the photocopied map-board has 33. What do the rest of you have? That might also account for most of the Turn 3 map problem.
